How to use this Directory

For the convenience of our members, this Directory lists your firm in each of the following sections:

1 The Membership Directory

presents each firm alphabetically with address and phone/fax number, business classification, main email and web address.

2 The Business Guide

classifies each member according to its type of business and lists its address, phone/fax, main email and web address.

A Message from the President

I cannot thank you enough for being a part of the Central Connecticut Chambers of Commerce and believing in our mission; Business Working Together to Promote Regional Prosperity and Community Vitality. Last year was certainly one of change. Mid-year, we said farewell to Cindy Bombard as she sailed into retirement. We also welcomed many new members to our regional Board of Directors.

our members remains unwavering. We provide the resources, support, and networking opportunities that will enable your businesses to not only survive but to thrive and flourish.

Together, we can achieve remarkable things, and I encourage you to share your ideas, concerns and aspirations with us. Your feedback is invaluable as we work towards creating a brighter future for all.

In conjunction with the City of Bristol's American Rescue Plan Fund we launched a workforce training development program, BristolWORKS! Most importantly, we continue to provide the value-added services that our membership counts on. We continue to work with local, state, and federal leaders to drive economic growth. Advocating for our membership base is at the core of everything your regional Chamber does. We are One Region. One Voice.

On behalf of our team, I thank you for your trust and commitment to the Central Connecticut Chambers of Commerce. It is an honor to lead our group of dedicated professionals who are committed to the communities in which we live. Johnny, Joyce, Adalia, Andrew, Cathy and I are excited about the possibilities that lie ahead and look forward to a successful and productive year for our Chamber and its members.

Our Chamber of Commerce is a powerful, united force that brings together businesses and individuals from various sectors to drive economic growth, foster innovation, and create opportunities for all. We are more than just an organization; we are a family of like-minded individuals working together for the common good.

Sincerely,

Katie D'Agostino

The Central Connecticut Area

The Central Connecticut Chambers of Commerce represents the Chambers and communities of Bristol, Burlington, Farmington, Plainville, Plymouth/Terryville and Wolcott. We are one of the largest Chambers in the State of Connecticut, with over 1,600 member businesses and organizations serving over 160,000 residents of the region. Together these very active Chambers have made huge strides in the growth of our area. The Central Connecticut Chambers of Commerce is the area's business community in action. It is the only organization in the community that has the membership, resources, and expertise to address the community's pressing needs and issues. By recruiting new members and building relationships, we help expand the opportunities to live, work, shop, dine, and play in the cities and towns that comprise our region.

The Chamber is a positive, upbeat organization that promotes economic development, provides united representation in government affairs, is an advocate for the business community, and provides essential member services. As a member of our community, you have access to information and services that are innovative and tailored to the needs of your business. Our active networking groups meet in various locations throughout the area. There's nothing like the personal meeting and exchange of business cards to grow your business connections.

By participating in regional planning activities, the Central Connecticut Chambers of Commerce represents the goals and aspirations of our member communities. Thousands of programs offered in the schools, parks, libraries, and community centers greatly enhance the lives of everyone in the region.

Central Connecticut has historically supported a strong manufacturing base, and this industry remains an important segment of our economy. Preparing young workers for those jobs, as well as planning to fill technology and service positions, is the job of every community. Your elected officials and chamber representatives strive to stay ahead of the curve so we can continue to live in a prosperous community. By using our connections within the community and in the state capital, we are able to push the growth and development of Central Connecticut in the right direction.

We strive to bring new vitality to the region by encouraging new businesses to grow and expand, and by encouraging people to make use of the many options available for education, civic engagement, and cultural enrichment. The Central Connecticut Chambers encourage businesses and individuals who might wish to start or relocate a business to come here and become members of one of our region's diverse communities.

OUR COMMUNITIES

The cities and towns served by the Central

Connecticut Chambers of Commerce stretch throughout the region. The area is part of the Central Connecticut Regional Planning Agency, made up of seven communities in Central Connecticut, whose mission is to plan and promote regional policies and programs to enhance the vitality, accessibility, and quality of life in our communities. We are also among the 16 cities and towns that make up the Bristol Resource Recovery Facility Operating Committee and the Tunxis Recycling Operating Committee, who turn 600 tons of waste into 16.3 megawatts of renewable energy every day at their plant in Bristol. These cooperative efforts benefit all of our cities and towns.

Located in the rolling hills of beautiful southern New England, visitors enjoy the proximity to urban centers as well as the advantages of protected open space and small farms. With well developed park systems, a solid mix of new and older housing stock, and a growing economic base, the communities in Central Connecticut truly enjoy the best of all possible worlds. Our expanding job market and steady economic growth continues, strengthened by the proximity to the capital city of Hartford, and the growing cultural center of New Haven. We also benefit from being two hours from the major metropolitan areas of Boston and New York City.

ON THE WEB

Be sure to stop by our website (CentralCTChambers.org), which provides easy access to a multitude of information about the Chamber, our members and the communities we serve. The site features searchable listings of all Chamber Members with options for members to add enhanced listings and social media integration. The Chamber website provides an up-to-date calendar of events with thousands of regional Chamber and community events each year. Through the website, our members have the ability to register for events, update their profile and pay bills.

NEWS MEDIA

Central Connecticut is served by the following News Media:

The Bristol Press, published daily, was founded in 1871 and has been in continuous operation ever since.

Granby and Simsbury.

Wolcott Community News is in its second decade as Wolcott's only free newspaper with a circulation of over 7,300 newspapers mailed to local homes and businesses.

The Yankee Flyer Inc. is published by the Gorman Family in Bloomfield, CT and covers Avon, Canton, Collinsville, Farmington, Burlington, and Unionville with their South Edition and Bloomfield, Simsbury, Tariffville, Weatogue, West Simsbury, Riverton, all of the Granbys, and East Hartland with their North Edition.

ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT

Central Connecticut is a great place to live because it has a sustainable tax base, a good work force and the means to address community needs. Our city and town administrators, state legislators, business and civic leaders, and ordinary citizens all work together to create regional prosperity and community vitality. We are proud of our growing community, with the wide variety of attractive business properties, good schools, business-friendly tax abatement and grant programs, and an enthusiastic and talented population ready to support future growth in the region.

Located on Route 229, one of the main arteries into Bristol, sports giant ESPN Inc., "The Worldwide Leader in Sports," has been in business since 1979. What started as a television channel now includes multiple networks and leading platforms in radio, print, online, mobile and more.

Lake Compounce continues to grow and draw visitors to New England's Family Theme Park. The nation's oldest continuously-operating amusement park has put millions into new rides and attractions in the past decade. Boulder Dash, the longest wooden roller coaster in the Northeast, was named the best wooden roller coaster in the world in its first year of operation and again in 2004, 2013, 2014, 2015, and 2016. Crocodile Cove, Connecticut's largest water park, was originally constructed in 1999, and has been expanded a number of times to make room for additional water attractions. In 2016 the park unveiled their newest roller coaster, Phobia Phear Coaster. This is the first triple launch coaster in New England using electromagnetic propulsion to reach speeds of 65 miles per hour, and includes an inversion 150 feet in the air and a 180 degree vertical twist.

ESPN and Lake Compounce are among the largest taxpayers and employers in Bristol. Both, along with the many other businesses in the area, contribute to the regional economy by providing jobs and tax dollars.

Our hundreds of manufacturing businesses range from large to small, many of which have fewer than 200 employees. They manufacture a variety of items including cabinets, counter tops, custom furniture, coils, springs, glass & matt cutters, jewelry, building products, alarms, cardboard boxes, wire & cables, aircraft components, locks, metal fasteners, and many more.

The region is bolstered and sustained by our local, state and federal government officials who, together with area chambers of commerce, work hand in hand with our business community to create jobs, train and retrain workers, expand existing businesses, and bring new businesses into the area.

MEDICAL SERVICES

Bristol Health was founded in 1921, and has continued to be a leading health provider for those who live and work in the Greater Bristol area. The organization has earned national recognition for its commitment to providing outstanding patient care. Bristol Hospital has 154 licensed beds and offers a complete range of patient services including a first-rate emergency center that cares for more than 40,000 patients each year.

Having grown from a community hospital (founded in 1921) to an integrated network that provides a full-continuum of services - both inpatient and outpatient - Bristol Hospital and Healthcare Group, in 2019, became Bristol Health. The name change better reflects the integrated network of providers and the full scope of care it offers the community.

The Bristol Health Medical Group is a community-based, multi-specialty practices affiliated with Bristol Health., delivering a full range of health and specialty care services at convenient locations throughout Bristol and the surrounding towns.

UConn Health is a vibrant, integrated academic medical center that is entering an era of unprecedented growth in all three areas of its mission: academics, research, and clinical care. A commitment to human health and well-being has been of utmost importance to UConn Health since the founding of the University of Connecticut Schools of Medicine and Dental Medicine in 1961. Based on a strong foundation of groundbreaking research, first-rate education, and quality clinical care, it has expanded its medical missions over the decades. It's hospital, the John Dempsey Medical Center is centrally located in Farmington.

The UConn Medical Group covers a wide range of specialties from primary care to cardiology, OB/GYN, cancer, orthopedics, and more. Patients are seen in several locations on the Farmington campus as well as satellite offices in Avon, Canton, East Hartford, Putnam, Simsbury, Southington, Storrs, Torrington, West Hartford, and Willimantic. Currently, the practice includes more than 450 physicians with expertise in over 50 specialties.

The Hospital of Central Connecticut, run by Hartford HealthCare, is located in New Britain. It also operates the HOCC Family Health Center in Bristol, offering a convenient primary care medical office. Specialty services are also available, including a lab; radiology; and physical rehabilitation; as well as urology, cancer, colorectal, gastrointestinal, and wound care at the Bristol site.

The Hartford HealthCare Medical Group also provides services in Plainville, including outpatient services and diagnostic imaging.

City of Bristol

Bristol is situated in Central Connecticut, twenty miles southwest of Hartford. It is a wonderfully diverse and family-friendly community that offers a wide range of historical, entertainment, and cultural opportunities.

The Bristol community is active in the arts, a wide range of sporting activities and preserving the City's rich history of architecture, revolutionary clock making, and general manufacturing. With slightly more than 60,000 residents, Bristol is home to many commuters, but also employs a large workforce locally, with many employed at companies such as ESPN, in the fields of health care, information technology, and manufacturing, whose industries remain strong in the region.

Bristol sits on 26.5 square miles in Hartford County which includes 700 acres of beautiful parks. It has 26,737 housing units with a median home sale price of $207,400 and median household income of $73,604. The City has a mayor and city council form of government.

CITY SERVICES

The Bristol Public Library and the Manross Library in Forestville house a collection of over 193,000 books, 240 magazine subscriptions, and more than 9,200 video cassettes and DVDs. They also have a vast downloadable collection including e-books, audio books and magazines. The library offers meeting rooms, a computer lab, programs for adults, teens and children including computer classes, job search workshops, book discussions, and story time.

The Bristol Senior Center offers a variety of services and programs including computer and aerobic classes, counseling services and food programs. Bristol residents 55 and older are eligible to participate in everything the Senior Center has to offer.

The Bristol Parks, Recreation, Youth & Community Services Department enhances the quality of life for all Bristol residents through the delivery of high-quality recreational services, over 700 acres of well-maintained parkland, an historic ballpark, indoor aquatics facility, and open space ranging from 25 acres to 250 acres that meet the diverse needs of the community.

The Youth and Community Services division of Parks, Recreation, Youth and Community Services is a community-based social service bureau caring for the well-being of the city's youth and adults through advocacy, resource development and coordination of comprehensive service delivery systems to strengthen the healthy functioning of youth and their families, and other individuals in need, and provides opportunities for youth to act as responsible members of the community.

EDUCATION

Bristol has several elementary schools for students from kindergarten through grade five; two K-8 schools, West Bristol School and Greene-Hills School, Bristol's two newest school buildings which provide increased parking and field space; room for computer labs and media centers; added accessibility for special needs students; and two middle schools, Northeast Middle School and Chippens Hill Middle School which, in addition to traditional courses, offer classes in computer technology, wellness, robotics and the arts.

Bristol has two public high schools, Bristol Eastern High School and Bristol Central High School, both of which rank among the highest in the state in the number of advanced placement courses offered and taken.

Bristol is also home to several top-quality parochial schools. Immanuel Lutheran School, St. Joseph School, and St. Matthews School all provide excellent educational opportunities for students from kindergarten through eighth grade. St. Paul Catholic High School is well established as an excellent facility that sends almost 100% of its graduates on to college each year.

DESTINATION

Bristol is home to several museums including the American Clock & Watch Museum and the New England Carousel Museum which are the perfect family destinations to enjoy all year long. Lake Compounce, the nation's oldest continuously-operated amusement park, is also located in Bristol and makes a great place to visit May through December. The city is also home to the one-of-a-kind shopping experience known as The Bristol Bazaar.

ALL HEART PORTAL

For everything Bristol, the City is proud to offer the All Heart Portal at www.BristolAllHeart.com. The site is aimed at connecting the community and visitors with what to experience in Bristol from the fun attractions to a full community calendar with dozens of events and an interactive map, local food & drink establishments, neighborhoods to live, places to worship and more. Plus, it features a 'Welcome to Bristol' video, and blogs and videos that share the positive stories of "Heart" occurring throughout the community.

Bristol Offers Many Opportunities for Businesses

By Justin Malley, Executive Director, Economic & Community Development

The City of Bristol welcomes businesses of every shape and size to the community — whether a business is relocating from another location, is just beginning operations in the City as a startup, or is a longtime business focused on continuing to grow in the community. Our small businesses, in particular, serve as the foundation of Bristol's economy by providing valuable goods and/or services, employment opportunities, tax revenue necessary to support the community, and so much more.

The City of Bristol is focused on creating a business-friendly environment to ensure existing businesses thrive and to attract new businesses to the "All Heart City." While all businesses and areas of the City are important, efforts are being focused on promoting development within the industrial and downtown sectors. Specifically, the Southeast Bristol Business Park, 894 Middle Street, and downtown's Centre Square are areas of focus.

Southeast Bristol Business Park

The Southeast Bristol Business Park is conveniently located on Route 229, just minutes from Route 72 and I-84 midway between Boston and New York City. There are three lots for sale ranging in size from 1.27 acres to 6.53 acres, with full underground utilities that make it ideal for manufacturers, distributors, and more. Importantly, building lots may be merged to accommodate larger projects. The Park is located within one mile of the popular DoubleTree by Hilton Hotel, Lake Compounce Amusement Park, ESPN, and the City's 229 Industrial Park, which includes several large manufacturers and distributors.

Manufacturers and/or distributors building in Bristol are eligible for a 5-year, 80% tax abatement on the new construction. Additionally, business owners are eligible to apply to a local grant program offering sizeable funds to assist with new building construction. As an example, a manufacturer that purchased Lot #4 and constructed a 30,000 square foot facility received a grant of $150,000.

894 Middle Street

894 Middle Street is located on the City's busiest commercial corridor with convenient access to CT Interstate 84 and CT Route 72. In a community with few large commercial properties to accommodate new construction, 894 Middle Street is available as an excellent option. The 15-acre development site is located across the street from ESPN World Headquarters and just a few hundred yards from a large hotel and new Bristol Event Center, Lake Compounce Amusement Park, the 229 Technology Park, and other attractions.

Centre Square

The City of Bristol is excited to partner with developers and business owners on the development of Centre Square in the heart of downtown. Centre Square is a 15-acre development site that hosts a 60,000 square-foot Bristol Health Medical Care Center employing hundreds of medical professionals while drawing scores of patients to downtown Bristol. Wheeler Health's new home for its headquarters at Centre Square is located on the corner of Hope Street and North Main Street. By Carrier has started construction on the new Centre Square Village, a mixed used residential and retail development along North Main Street. In addition, the City is also reserving an area of the site to host downtown community gatherings, including the City's successful seasonal Farmers Market from June through October.

With only one lot still remaining for sale, the City encourages private developers and business owners to consider the property through a package of tax breaks, grant incentives, and a Tax Increment Financing (TIF) program. The TIF program encompassing Centre Square enables the financing of public infrastructure improvements and, importantly, is a way to offer private developers and business owners the possibility of attractive financing options for their own projects.

Downtown development continues. There are dozens of properties surrounding Centre Square that are slowly improving, hosting new businesses interested in the energy that the Bristol Health project and future projects will soon provide downtown. A long-vacant lot at the corner of Route 6 and North Main Street is now host to the 60,000 square foot KindCare Assisted Living development. The Bristol Bazaar, a brand new makers' market on Race Street, hosts several small businesses and has a dedicated café where patrons can purchase drinks and snacks. The iconic historic Armory on the corner of Center Street and Valley Street has been brought back to life as the Bristol Sports Armory and is being used as a multi-use sports training facility.

Town of Burlington

Burlington is a picturesque community nestled in the foothills of the Berkshires, boasting gentle rolling hills and pristine woodlands. Founded in 1806, Burlington is a residential community with a population of 9,400 and a land area of 30 square miles that stretches from the Farmington River to the 1,100-foot high Johnnycake Mountain. It includes Lake Garda, a man-made residential lake, and the village of Whigville. With plenty of open space and a traditional town center, it is easy to see why Burlington is one of the fastest growing towns in the state.

The town currently has about 3,600 housing units with a median sale price of $345,700. The median household income is $143,000. Burlington's form of government is a Board of Selectmen that includes an elected First Selectman and four additional elected Board members. Burlington was listed in the Best of Small Towns [Hartford Magazine, Nov 2005] and ranked as one of the Top Towns to Live In [Connecticut Magazine, 2010].

BUSINESS CLIMATE

Burlington's Economic Development Commission continues to work on improving the infrastructure of the central business district. The recently completed waterline extension project will encourage new small businesses to locate here as well as help existing businesses be more viable. Extending the water line to the senior housing facility will improve water service as well as provide better resources for the Volunteer Fire Department, which is adjacent to the facility. Burlington is centrally located within a seven-town area, nine miles from Route 84 and Route 8, making it a great place to do business.

TOWN SERVICES

In the town center, a 9,000 square-foot public library provides a variety of services to groups and individuals of all ages. In addition to books, library card holders can also check out DVDs, CDs, Leap Pad kits, e-books, online continuing education courses, and passes to 16 museums and attractions. There are many activities available at the library including book clubs, story time, movie showings, historical lectures, and knitting classes.

The town owns a 24-unit senior housing project called the Evergreens at Thompson's Way, which currently consists of five buildings boasting many amenities. The fully occupied complex is set on eight acres of picturesque land in the center of Burlington and is well supported by town services.

EDUCATION

Burlington is part of Regional School District #10 with the Town of Harwinton. Region 10 has an enrollment of 2,800 attending Lake Garda Elementary School, Harwinton Consolidated School, Har-Bur Middle School, and Lewis S. Mills High School. Burlington students continue to score in the top tier in the state in mastery testing. The high level of education provided in all the schools results in the vast majority of graduating students moving onto pursue a college education.

RECREATION

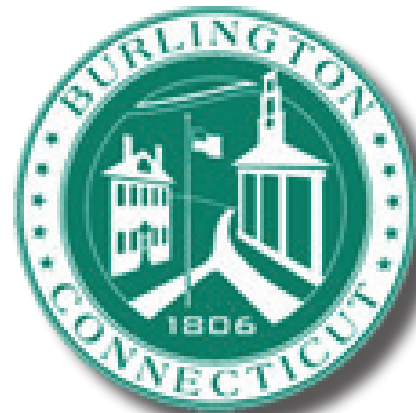

The town's "Tavern Day" is held each year in September and is attended by hundreds of townspeople. It showcases businesses, crafters, a large car show, a food court of local restaurants and the Browne Elton Tavern.

Burlington has four recreational areas: Foote Road Recreation Complex, which has a water-front; Malerbo Recreation Complex, with little league, softball and soccer fields; Nassahegan Recreation Complex, with little league fields and a lighting system for the occasional evening games; and the Municipal Tennis Courts. The Farmington River Trail reveals the beauty of the Farmington River as it takes visitors across the entire length of Burlington, from Collinsville to Unionville. Burlington is also home to "Devil's Kitchen," "Tory's Den," the Burlington Falls passive recreation areas, and the ever-popular Burlington Fish Hatchery. Three water companies and the State of Connecticut own forty eight percent of Burlington. This will help to maintain Burlington's rural character for generations.

Sessions Woods Wildlife Management Area in Burlington focuses on conservation education, with facilities to bring school groups, the general public, and natural resource professionals from throughout Connecticut to participate in educational programs, demonstrations, and workshops pertaining to wildlife and natural resource management. The facilities include an education center with an exhibit area and a large meeting room, interpretive trails, habitat management demonstration areas, and a backyard wildlife habitat area. Burlington is an attractive, suburban community with residential areas scattered between large pockets of watershed-protected land. It's a beautiful place to be.

Visit the town's website at <http://burlingtonct.us> for more information on Burlington and all it has to offer.

Town of Farmington

Farmington comprises 29 square miles along the Farmington River. It is a residential suburb of Hartford with a population of 26,500. The town has retained its distinctive character through maintenance of its historic districts and careful land use planning for the future. It currently has 11,500 housing units with a median sales price of $339,000 and a median household income of $106,773.

Farmington has a Council-Manager form of government with a Council Chairperson as the chief elected official and a Town Manager as the Chief Executive Officer. The vision of the Town of Farmington is that it will be recognized as a historic and progressive town with an engaged citizenry committed to the betterment of the entire community. To that end, high quality services are provided to a diverse population living and working in a balanced blend of open space, residential housing and commercial properties.

HISTORY

Farmington was incorporated in 1645 from what was known as Tunxis Plantation, one of the largest single land grants in the Colonies. Known as the "Mother Town," Farmington was partitioned into the towns of Avon, Bristol, Plainville, New Britain, Berlin, Southington, and Burlington. This history is reflected in the Town Seal, which lists all of these towns.

BUSINESS CLIMATE

Farmington lies at the hub of major I-84 interchanges, giving it a strong advantage as a site for central Connecticut business and industry. Farmington's diverse grand-list allows for a commercial mill rate among the lowest in Connecticut. A stable, highly educated workforce, Blue Ribbon schools, low taxes and myriad recreational opportunities make the Town of Farmington an ideal place to do business.

The University of Connecticut Health is the town's largest employer with a staff of 5,000 and is a leading academic research institution in Connecticut. The Jackson Laboratory (JAX), built on a 17-acre site on the UConn Health campus, opened their 183,000 square foot facility in 2014. The JAX Genomic Medicine facility focuses on medical applications of genomics with academic and clinical partners from around the world.

TRUMF, whose North American Headquarters is in Farmington, is the largest manufacturer of fabricating machinery in the U.S. Westfarms Mall is a major retail facility with more than 160 stores and restaurants. Farmington is also home to over 2,000 small and mid-sized retail, service and manufacturing businesses that employ hundreds of workers.

EDUCATION

Farmington has a very strong school system and Farmington Public Schools demonstrate a continuing commitment to educational excellence. The Farmington Public School System is comprised of seven schools: four Elementary Schools to serve children in kindergarten through grade 4; West Woods Upper Elementary for students in grades 5 and 6; Irving A. Robbins Middle School for students in grades 7 and 8; and Farmington High School.

Farmington is also the home of Miss Porter's, a world-renowned private school for girls in grades 9-12. Founded in 1843, the school currently has over 300 students from almost 30 different countries.

Farmington's Public Schools are rooted in excellence, recognized as Blue Ribbon Schools by the U.S. Dept. Of Education. Newsweek Magazine has cited Farmington High School as one of the top 100 high schools in the country. Over 95% of Farmington graduates go on to college.

Farmington is also home to several distinguished higher learning institutions including, Tunxis Community College, University of Connecticut Health, Connecticut School of Broadcasting and Sanford-Brown College.

Hike or bike the scenic trails of the Farmington Valley Greenway, part of Farmington's trail system created out of the abandoned Canal Railroad. These trails are paved for handicap accessibility with several entrances around town. Enjoy first class art and heritage at the Hill-Stead Museum featuring works by Monet, Manet, Degas, Cassatt, and Whistler. Situated on 152 acres, the museum also features a sunken garden, woodland trails, and a pond.

Visit Farmington's other museums and historic sites: the Old Stone Schoolhouse, a museum of local history; the Lewis Walpole Library, a research library for 18th-century studies; the Stanley-Whitman House, a house built in 1720 preserving the local history of 18th century; and the Unionville Museum, preserving the history of Unionville. No matter what your interests are, Farmington provides numerous activities for both residents and visitors.

Town of Plainville

The Town of Plainville covers an area of 9.6 square miles in Hartford County, midway between New Britain and Bristol and 14 miles southwest of Hartford. Bristol borders it on the west, Farmington on the north, New Britain on the east, and Southington on the south.

Plainville, originally part of Farmington, was first settled about 1657, and was incorporated as a separate town in July, 1869. Its name developed about 1830 from an earlier reference to the area as the "Great Plain." The town had a population of 1,433 in the first census, taken after its incorporation in 1870. The industrial history of Plainville dates back to about 1828, following the opening of the Farmington Canal and the early industrial sites in what is now the business district.

EDUCATION

Plainville has three elementary schools, one middle school and one high school. Linden Street Elementary School, the oldest of Plainville's school buildings, has undergone extensive renovations and expansions. The school system enjoys many community partnerships that enhance the educational program. General Electric Industrial Systems donated $100,000 over three years to strategic planning and administrative training. Additionally, employees from GE and many local businesses volunteer in the schools as mentors and tutors.

BUSINESS CLIMATE

The town's business base is diverse with major industries that include electrical products, spring manufacturing, tool making, metal stamping, heavy construction, and stone quarries. The level of growth in Plainville is holding firm in the area of commercial and light industrial building.

Economic development is a vital aspect of Plainville's continued growth, with a lot of interest in small, diverse Restricted and General Industrial and service businesses looking to expand and invest in new machinery or equipment. Plainville's Enterprise Zone has stimulated this type of new economic development opportunity for the Town.

Robertson Airport on Johnson Avenue in Plainville, now a full-service, modern facility, is the oldest airport in Connecticut. The owners are considering the sale of the airport, and the Town is looking into the possibility of taking it over as a municipally-operated field. The Town has contracted Clough, Harbour & Associates (CHA) to do a feasibility study regarding the possible purchase.

Plainville's commercial/retail segment has also been diversified in the past few years. Connecticut Commons has stimulated new investment by national retailers such as Kohl's, Old Navy, Dick's Sporting Goods, and DSW Shoe Warehouse.

TOWN SERVICES

The Town of Plainville has had a town manager/town council form of government since 1959. The Town Council is made up of seven members who serve two-year terms. The Board of Education is made up of nine members who serve four-year terms. It oversees the school system, which has a currently enrollment of over 2,200 students.

It is the mission of the Plainville Police Department to protect and serve our community. We seek to provide professional, ethical, and effective police services to all people. We pledge fidelity to the United States Constitution and the Connecticut Constitution. We will protect individual rights while impartially enforcing the law. We affirm our mission with integrity, passion, courage, and strength.

Plainville's Fire Company is a volunteer department with 85 members. The Company is responsible for the Annual Hot Air Balloon Festival held each year in August. Thousands come from around the State to enjoy the festivities and fireworks display.

Trumbull Park boasts a new Little League field, all-purpose field, and baseball field. At Norton Park, the girls' softball diamond has been refurbished and a new soccer field was recently constructed. A $175,000 grant has been secured to design and construct Class A soccer fields.

Norton Park is also the location of the Elizabeth A. Berner Pool, which is open from mid-June to the end of August for residents and their guests to enjoy. This family aquatic center offers two water slides, a raindrop fountain and a zero-depth entry tot pool. The pool underwent replastering work in 2006.

Paderewski Park is the home of the Conservation Commission's annual fishing derby. Tomasso Nature Park offers approximately four acres of wetlands, observation areas, knolls, trails and bridges. It is home to nearly 600 painted turtles and other wildlife.

For more information, visit the town's official web page, www.plainvillect.com.

Town of Plymouth

Plymouth is comprised of three sections: Plymouth Center, Pequabuck, and Terryville. It is a community of 12,000 with a land area of 22 square miles in the southeast corner of Litchfield County. There are 5,200 housing units in town and a median sales price of $217,000. The median household income is $84,550. Plymouth has a mayor/town council form of government.

HISTORY

The town of Plymouth was incorporated in 1795 from the society of Northbury. Manufacturing was an important element of the Plymouth economy, from Eli Terry's world famous clocks in the 1790s to the manufacture of locks beginning in the 1830s.

The Plymouth Center Historic District contains 126 historic assets such as buildings, sites and objects. The focal point of the 136-acre site is Plymouth Center Village where Union troops reportedly drilled during the Civil War. It is now home to the Plymouth Congregational Church, which contains the only Eli Terry wooden works tower clock in existence. The District was accepted into the National Register of Historic Places in 1999. Another, smaller district, known as East Plymouth, was accepted in 1984. It lies north of Terryville against the Bristol line. Lastly, the Terryville Water Wheel was placed on the National Register in 2002. Dating back to 1851, it powered the Lewis Lock Company, which, in 1854, merged with James Terry & Company (Eli's grandson) to become the Eagle Lock Company.

BUSINESS CLIMATE

Plymouth's business heritage is being perpetuated through the expansion of the Plymouth Business Park. Begun in the early 1970s, the Park contains 25 companies totaling over 425,000 square feet of floor space. Expansions, either under construction or in the design/permit stage, will add another 50,000 square feet. The town's Economic Development Commission is marketing the remaining parcels. The Plymouth Business Park is well suited either for companies having synergistic relationships with other area businesses or for those wishing to relocate to a suburban setting.

TOWN SERVICES

Evergreen is Plymouth's first active adult retirement condominium community, with 130 units on 62 acres located on South Street. Residents have access to a library, dining area, woodworking shop, computer room with internet access, and a swimming pool with fitness center and whirlpool spa.

Plymouth supports two public libraries, one in Terryville and one in Plymouth Center. The town is served by a full-time police department, a volunteer fire department and a volunteer ambulance corps.

EDUCATION

Plymouth is served by four public schools. Eli Terry Jr. Middle School was moved to the town's old high school building after renovations in 2008 and Terryville High School moved to its brand new location. Harry S. Fisher Elementary and Plymouth Center School serve as the town's two elementary schools, grades K-5.

RECREATION

The 27-acre, town-owned Lake Winfield Park features walking trail, tennis courts, and a playscape. Both Little League and the Terryville Youth Soccer Club provide organized youth sports activities.

The Hancock Dam Flood Control Area, approximately 700 acres of federal flood control area including a 40-acre lake, is adjacent to the 650-acre Mattatuck State Forest and a 500-acre reservation maintained by the Boy Scouts of America. Two segments of the Blue Trail System, the Mattatuck Trail and the Tunxis Trail, pass through the area. The Town Forest, a tract of approximately 46 acres, features a hiking trail with interpretive nature stations.

The Terryville Country Fair is held annually in the fall and is sponsored by the Terryville Lions Club, which maintains the fairgrounds. The town is home to the Lock Museum of America, founded in 1971 with locks from the Eagle Lock Company collection. It now holds the largest collection of early American locks in the country. The total collection, including locks from around the world, exceeds 20,000 pieces.

In early 2005, the town adopted its new Plan of Conservation and development. Subtitled "Connecting to the Future," the plan utilizes the town's natural resources in guiding development, maintaining open space and creating pedestrian linkages while protecting its rural heritage. The town has created a Village District from Benedict Street to Allen Street and has established streetscape design through various grants which will connect our rural heritage to our future legacies.

Town of Wolcott

Wolcott is a residential community located in northern New Haven County with a land area of 21.6 square miles and a population of 16,232. There are about 6,500 total housing units with a median sales price of $259,000. The median household income in Wolcott is $103,523.

Wolcott has a mayor and town council form of government. The nine-member town council is comprised of three members from each of the town's three voting districts.

HISTORY

The town of Wolcott was originally known as Farmingbury. It is now named after Governor Wolcott, who cast the deciding vote in favor of the town's incorporation in 1796.

Among Wolcott's most famous residents are Seth Thomas, who made his first clock in Wolcott and went onto become one of the region's clock making giants, and Amos Bronson Alcott, an educator, philosopher, and poet whose equally famous daughter, Louisa May Alcott, was the author of Little Women.

Wolcott's old Wool tick School is a one-room stone building built in 1825. It served area students continuously for 109 years and is now maintained by the Wolcott Historical Society.

TOWN SERVICES

As previously stated, Wolcott operates with a mayor/town council form of government. It has a full-time Police Department, 3 Volunteer Fire Departments and an Ambulance service. The Town operates a senior bus transportation service and we have a very active Senior Center that operates nutrition, health screening and recreational programs for our Senior population.

Charles Rietdyke Senior Center is a staffed senior center run by the town that offers nutrition, health screening, and recreation programs for the elderly. Daily programs include poker, bridge, basic exercising, weight strengthening, line dancing, bingo, and knitting. The town also operates a senior bus transportation service, providing seniors with rides throughout Wolcott and the Greater Waterbury area.

Wolcott Public Library offers much more than just books. Some of the items you will find here are CDs, magazines, DVDs and VHS tapes. The library also has audio books available for download to an iPod, MP3 player or computer (mac or pc). Through NetLibrary, residents have 24/7 access to eBooks, digital versions of journals and database content. The library offers many other resources from one-on-one internet training to job search and resume tutorials.

The Wolcott Chamber of Commerce publishes a Directory for all residents and businesses in the town of Wolcott.

EDUCATION

Wolcott Public Schools have a reputation for providing an excellent, comprehensive education program. The school district has three elementary schools, one middle school, and one high school.

Some programs featured at these schools are gifted/talented programs; pre-school program and student services programs for special needs students; latchkey program before and after school for elementary students; UConn co-op and advanced placement courses; Ukraine student exchange program; and vocational/technical training programs.

RECREATION

The Woodtick Recreational Area is owned by the town and open to the public. It features a sandy beach with lifeguards, restroom facilities, playgrounds, basketball and volleyball courts, and a large picnic area.

Interesting vistas are provided by two dams/spillways. Farmingbury Hills Golf Course is a municipal 9-hole course located on 85 acres atop Southington Mountain. The scenic course offers excellent views of Apple Valley and a professionally groomed course. A clubhouse and public restaurant were added in 2000 to complete the golf experience.

Peterson Park offers residents tennis courts, basketball courts, picnic areas, and playgrounds. Wolcott is also home to the beginning of the 35-mile Mattatuck Trail, one of Connecticut's finest hiking trails. Baseball, soccer, basketball, and midget football programs are available to community youth.

Wolcott also boasts an active Lions Club, helping to support the community with scholarships, sponsoring five yearly blood drives, supporting youth organizations like the Leos Club and most recently the Wolcott Youth Center and supporting events like the Halloween DARE dance, supporting our senior citizens, donating and delivering food baskets around the holidays to families in need.

Visit the town's website at www.wolcottct.org for more information on Wolcott and all it has to offer.

Education

The Central Connecticut area is fortunate to have an educational infrastructure that supports and is supported by the business community, especially area manufacturers. Job shadowing, student tours and internships provide exceptional opportunities for students to experience life in the workplace while still in school. Area educational institutions provide a wide variety of training and retraining programs for students as well as adults who are seeking new or improved employment opportunities. The Bloomfield, Bristol, Burlington, Farmington, Plymouth/Terryville, and Wolcott Public School systems have earned an outstanding reputation for providing quality education to our youth. The schools enjoy willing support from their communities, including large-scale participation in such activities as School/Business Partnership and Mentor Programs, alcohol and drug-free prom and graduation nights, and athletic booster programs. Children at all grade levels are offered exceptional educational opportunities that stress high achievement in academics, vocational skills, fine arts, athletics, and extracurricular activities.

BristolWORKS!

Opening its doors in the winter of 2023, BristolWORKS! is a collaborative workforce development training center, providing individuals with skills, certifications, and job-placement services to obtain employment quickly or to allow them to continue with advanced programs. Programs are free to Bristol residents. Non-residents can still enroll, although a fee may apply.

Students are able to choose from four programs: Healthcare, Manufacturing, Information Technology, and Early Childhood Education. BristolWORKS! was made possible by funds received through the American Rescue Plan Act (ARPA). BristolWORKS! is located in downtown Bristol at 430 North Main Street.

Bristol Technical Education Center

Bristol Technical Education Center staff and administration at the Bristol Technical Education Center provide basic skills in academic and technical training for eleventh and twelfth grade students to prepare them for entry-level employment or higher education. Theoretical and hands-on experiences are provided in order to serve the needs of the local community and industry-at-large. Adults are also served through the provision of apprentice, extension, and other post-secondary training.

Bristol TEC draws approximately 150 students from 42 surrounding towns. In addition to academic courses equivalent to other high schools in English, Mathematics, and Social Studies, the program offers technical courses in Automotive Technology, Culinary Arts, Electronics, Heating Ventilation and Air Conditioning (HVAC), Manufacturing Technology, and Welding. Bristol TEC's unique certificate program allows students to learn a technical skill, which supplements their sending school's academic program. This setting also provides eligible students the opportunity to earn income while working in their technical field through Cooperative Work Experience. Upon graduation from Bristol Technical Education Center, students are prepared for immediate employment in their certified trade, in the business world, or for higher education.

Capital Community College

In 1992, when the Greater Hartford Community College and the Hartford State Technical College were combined, Capital Community College was formed. It is a comprehensive, open door, two-year urban institution located in the city of Hartford. Capital offers 35 associate degree programs and 27 certificate programs in areas like Accounting, Computer Information Systems, Early Childhood Education, Nursing, Social Service, and much more. The Mission of Capital Community College is to provide access to higher education to the diverse residents of the greater Hartford Region. Capital is one of the most ethnically diverse campuses in New England with 34% African American students, 28% Hispanic students, and 21% Caucasian students.

Central Connecticut State University

Central Connecticut State University (CCSU) is a regional, comprehensive public university dedicated to student learning. Comprising four schools – the Carol Ammon School of Arts & Sciences; Business, which recently earned AACSB accreditation; Education & Professional Studies; and Engineering & Technology – CCSU offers undergraduate and graduate programs through the Masters and sixth-year levels, and a doctoral program (EdD) in Educational Leadership.

The largest of four comprehensive universities within the Connecticut State University system and the second largest university (public or private) in Connecticut, CCSU enrolls approximately 12,000 students.

Central Connecticut State University's Institute of Technology and Business Development (ITBD) is a University-based outreach function dedicated to building the Connecticut economy by providing competitive advantages to business and industry through access to technical training, skill development, Lean & Six Sigma programs, industrial modernization, sales and marketing training and conference room rental and services. The Institute, located at 185 Main Street in downtown New Britain, supports Connecticut businesses and organizations by providing a full-spectrum of training, technology and manufacturing process assistance, incubation lease space and conference room rentals. Its cost-effective business incubation services give start-up companies a chance to grow and thrive. Through these activities, the ITBD provides the resources necessary to give Connecticut companies competitive and economic advantages.

Tunxis Community College

Now its fifth decade of service to the community, Tunxis Community College prepares students to advance in a changing world with over 60 credit associate degrees, certificates and continuing education options designed to provide career preparation that meets the needs of area employers. Each semester the College enrolls over 6,000 students in credit and continuing education courses, specialized occupational training, and customized employee training.

Tunxis Workforce Development and Continuing Education is one of the largest providers of non-credit courses and programs within the Connecticut Community College system, offering about 200 courses each semester that prepare learners with 21st century skills and employment in areas with industry need. The division offers Allied Health programs, Electrician's License Renewal Training, OSHA, GD&T, Blueprint Reading, LEAN, Project Management and more. Tunxis is located in Farmington, and also offers classes and meeting rooms at its satellite facility Tunxis@Bristol. With a variety of short-term training and educational opportunities, Tunxis@Bristol offers cost competitive year-round programs. The staff at Tunxis@Bristol is ready to meet your company's specific training needs and objectives while you earn CEUs/CECs for your industry.

Workforce Training

BristolWORKS!

BristolWORKS! is a collaborative workforce development training center, providing individuals with skills, certifications and job-placement services to obtain employment quickly or to allow them to continue with advanced programs. BristolWORKS! operates under the umbrella of the Central CT Chambers of Commerce. The four fundamental training programs (Manufacturing, IT, Early Childhood Education, and Healthcare) that are funded through the American Rescue Plan Act (ARPA) are free to those who live or work in Bristol and are available to all others for a fee. Additionally, BristolWORKS! offers a number of other programs.

BristolWORKS! is led by Director Kim Ward Holley. Kim brings over 25 years in the field of education where she has served as a teacher, principal, Superintendent of Schools, and Executive Director in both public and non-profit educational settings. Kim is a lifelong resident of Bristol and is excited to bring her skills and experience to serve and positively impact the City of Bristol.

She is joined by an Office Assistant and an Employability Specialist (Anamaria Russo).

The Employability Specialist serves a specialized role with BristolWORKS!, working with program participants beginning at intake, through the transition to job placement, higher-level training and/or college and post-training. Anamaria is the primary contact person for participants and is responsible for career counseling, workforce readiness skills and workshops, collecting and tracking data, maintaining community connections, and attending community meetings.

Connecticut Tooling and Machining Association

The Connecticut Tooling & Machining Association (CTMA), a local chapter of the National Tooling & Machining Association (NTMA), has been one of the leading manufacturing trade associations in the state since 1943. Our mission is to lead the membership toward superior competitiveness and profitability by being the total resource for information, education, training and association services for the innovative tooling and machining company.

The CTMA was born out of a necessity for industry representation when dealing with the government. To this day the association's top priorities remain Government Relations and Workforce Development. We currently represent over 50 member companies and with a continuously growing member base CTMA creates fantastic networking opportunities at our monthly member meetings. Monthly member meetings range from roundtables, plant tours, lunch-and-learns that revolve around hot topics in the industry, golf outings, social events and much more!

You can join NTMA as a regular member and become part of the CT Chapter or join CTMA as an Associate Member. Joining the NTMA/CTMA comes with a host of additional Benefits, including discounts from companies like Grainger, Staples, Avis, Budget and others. Becoming a member also means deep discounts on shipping costs through Partnership. Additionally, there are many business resource benefits to take advantage of such as energy discounts through APPI, an energy resource company that helps find the best rates and contract lengths to benefit your business and CBIZ Retirement Plan Services.

The Emerging Leaders group was recently formed. What is an Emerging Leader? Managers, supervisors, team leaders or people you have identified for these roles in your business. They come from your shop floors and offices. You definitely have your reasons why you choose them as emerging leaders and they have clearly shown you their potential and true interest in growing within your company.

With workforce development a top priority, a great source of pride for the association and its Board members is NTMA-U. NTMA-U is an accredited online apprenticeship program only offered to members of the NTMA and its local chapters. CTMA purchased a portal as a benefit for members to get discounted prices. NTMA- is also NIMS National Institute of Metalworking Skills- outcome tracked, with course materials meeting the requirements for NIMS Certification. NTMA-U is a great way to train new employees and can also sharpen a current employees skillset.

To learn more about the extensive benefits of being a NTMA/CTMA member, or to JOIN our outstanding organization, visit CTMA's website at ct-ntma.org or call the Central Connecticut Chamber of Commerce at (860) 314-2101.
